Hi Jim and Stephanie,

I am looking at the property located at 6968 Seminole Trail (Tax Map # 66-A-45 & 66-A-46). It is currently zoned R1. I'd like to understand the feasibility of rezoning this to B-3. Is the county generally supportive of a commercial business use on these parcels within the Mixed-Use Village Comprehensive Plan?

Thank you for your time,

Conor Bredder

Conor,

I believe the board would be open to rezoning to commercial. It really isn't ideal for residential and the board typically prefers frontage properties as commercial.

Conor,

Thanks for reaching out.

The Future Land Use Map designation of "Mixed-Use Village Center" does support commercial and business uses, and the County generally encourages a mix of residential and commercial development in these areas.

However, the current zoning (R1) would need to be rezoned, and approval is not guaranteed. The County evaluates rezonings based on how well the proposal aligns with the Comprehensive Plan's vision, particularly walkability, integration of uses, and overall design.

While higher-intensity commercial zoning like B-3 has been approved on other properties along Seminole Trail within similar designations, those approvals are case-specific and often include conditions or design considerations to ensure compatibility with the mixed-use vision.

In short, commercial use is supported in principle, but the success of a B-3 rezoning would depend on the specific proposal and how well it aligns with the County's mixed-use goals.

If you would like to move forward, you are welcome to submit a conceptual plan for the property. I can circulate that to our internal reviewing agencies as part of a pre-application review to provide more detailed, site-specific feedback. This process can help identify potential impacts, key considerations, and any major issues early on before a formal rezoning application is submitted.
